

Call for Papers:
Southeastern American Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies 2012
Decatur, GA March 1-3
“Legacies of the Enlightenment”

Stephen Decatur
by Orlando S. Lagman, after Stuart

The 38th Annual Meeting of SEASECS will take place from Thursday, March 1 through Saturday, March 3, 2012 at the Holiday Inn Decatur-Atlanta Conference Plaza, a stone's throw from the many restaurants and shops of Decatur's charming downtown square, which can be reached via MARTA rail service from the Atlanta airport. The plenary speakers for the meeting will be: Robert Williams and Tamara Livingston on the History of the Book, the distinguished Defoe and Fielding scholar Dr. Paul Hunter, and eminent French dix-huitièmiste, Dr. Malcolm Cook.

We welcome proposals for panels and individual papers. Please note that all presenters must be members of the society. Check out our website for more information about the society, the meeting, and membership.

Panel proposals: If you would like to propose a panel topic for the meeting, please send me a description that includes the title, the subject, and your contact information including affiliation. I will circulate a list of panel topics after I have collected them all. Due date for panel proposals: May 15, 2011. Note that this call is for topics only; if you have put together a panel that has all its presenters already, please see below.

Proposals for complete panels and individual papers: For individual paper proposals, please send the title of the paper and a brief description of your topic; your contact information; and any a/v needs. For complete panels, please submit the title and panel description; the name of the chair with contact information; the name of each panelist with the title of the paper, any a/v requirements, and contact information. The latter should include email and snail mail addresses and affiliations. Deadline: October 1, 2011.

Please send proposals, inquiries, and notes of good cheer to: Martha F. Bowden, Program Chair, mbowden@kennesaw.edu. Joe Johnson (joejohnson@clayton.edu) and Kay Doig (kdoig@gsu.edu) will be responsible for local arrangements.
